Item 1.01. Entry Into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Transaction Description

On March 15, 2007, an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Vornado Realty L.P. ("Vornado Sub") entered into a Stock Purchase Agreement (the "Agreement") with various individuals and a related company (collectively, the "Sellers"), whereby Vornado Sub has agreed to acquire a 70% controlling interest in 1290 Avenue of the Americas, a 2.0 million square foot Manhattan office building, located on the entire blockfront between 51st and 52nd Streets on Avenue of the Americas, and the 555 California Street office complex containing 1.8 million square feet, known as the Bank of America Center, located at California and Montgomery Streets in San Francisco's financial district. 1290 Avenue of the Americas, whose largest tenants include AXA, Morrison & Foerster, Bryan Cave and Microsoft, is 100% leased. 555 California Street, whose largest tenants include Bank of America, UBS and Goldman Sachs, is 94% leased. The foregoing purchase will be effected through the acquisition by Vornado Sub of all of the shares of a group of foreign companies (collectively, the "Acquired Companies") that own, indirectly through U.S. entities, the 1% sole general partnership interest and limited partnership interests comprising 69% of the partnerships that own the two properties. The remaining 30% limited partnership interest is owned by Donald J. Trump.

Under the Agreement, the purchase price for Vornado Sub's 70% interest in the real estate is approximately $1.807 billion, consisting of $1.010 billion of cash and $797 million of existing debt. The preliminary allocation of the purchase price is approximately $775 per square foot for 1290 Avenue of the Americas and approximately $575 per square foot for 555 California Street, based on current measurement of the buildings. The payment of the purchase price is subject to customary adjustments based on the amount of certain net assets as of the closing date, including certain cash reserves, some of which are restricted.

Vornado Sub's 70% share of the total debt is $797 million. 1290 Avenue of the Americas is subject to a mortgage loan in the amount of $440 million that bears interest at 6.82% and is due January 2013, and 555 California Street is subject to a mortgage and other loans in the aggregate amount of $698 million that bear interest at an average rate of 5.8% and are due September 2011.

The Agreement contains customary representations, warranties, covenants, and indemnification for breaches of representations and warranties. The closing is scheduled for May 15, 2007, subject to customary closing conditions, including obtaining necessary lender consent.

Related Litigation

The limited partnerships that Vornado Sub is acquiring previously owned and developed properties located on the former Penn Central rail yards between West 59th and 72nd Streets in New York, New York (the "Rail Yards"). In November 2005, the limited partnerships sold the Rail Yards. Subsequently, in early 2006, the limited partnerships acquired 1290 Avenue of the Americas and 555 California Street pursuant to a Section 1031 like-kind exchange. Below is a summary, based on publicly available court papers, of certain litigation commenced by Mr. Trump.

On August 10, 2005, Mr. Trump brought a lawsuit in the New York State Supreme Court against, among others, the general partners of the limited partnerships that Vornado Sub is acquiring. Mr. Trump's claims arose out of a dispute over the sale price of, and use of proceeds from, the sale of the Rail Yards. Mr. Trump asserted direct and derivative claims, including for breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty, conspiracy to breach fiduciary duty, tortious interference with fiduciary relationships, breach of contract, constructive trust, an accounting, dissolution of limited partnerships, access to books and records, and injunctive relief.

On September 14, 2005, the Court denied Mr. Trump's motion to enjoin the defendants from disposing of their, or Mr. Trump's, interest in the entities that owned the Rail Yards, and in any contract of sale or the proceeds from such sale. The Court also refused to confirm, and vacated, an attachment order that Mr. Trump had obtained on an ex parte basis when he filed his complaint. In its decision, the Court found statements in an affidavit submitted by Mr. Trump claiming that defendants had sold the Rail Yards at an undervalued price of $1.76 billion to be "conclusory." At the same time, the Court found "persuasive" evidence that $1.76 billion was a "realistic and fair" price for the Rail Yards.

On July 24, 2006, the Court dismissed all of Mr. Trump's claims against the defendants, except for his claim seeking access to books and records, which remains pending. The Court ruled that Mr. Trump's challenge to the sale price of the Rail Yards was a derivative claim, and that Mr. Trump could not pursue that claim, because he had not made the required demand on the general partners or shown that demand was excused. In reaching this conclusion, the Court cited evidence indicating that the Rail Yards were sold for approximately $188 million more than the appraisals of the Rail Yards.

Mr. Trump has sought reargument and renewal on, and filed a notice of appeal in connection with, his dismissed claims.

Vornado Sub has agreed to indemnify the Sellers for liabilities and expenses arising out of Mr. Trump's claim that the limited partnerships that Vornado Sub is acquiring did not sell the Rail Yards at a fair price or could have sold the Rail Yards for a greater price and any other claims asserted by the plaintiffs in the legal action; provided, however that if Mr. Trump prevails on certain claims involving partnership matters, other than claims relating to sale price, then the Sellers will be required to reimburse Vornado Sub for certain costs related to those claims.

On March 16, 2007, the Company issued a press release related to these matters. A copy of the press release is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1 and incorporated by reference herein.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE — March 16, 2007

VORNADO TO ACQUIRE 70% CONTROLLING INTEREST IN 1290 AVENUE OF THE AMERICAS AND 555 CALIFORNIA STREET

PARAMUS, NEW JERSEY.....Vornado Realty Trust (NYSE:VNO) today announced that it has entered into an agreement to acquire a 70% controlling interest in 1290 Avenue of the Americas, a 2.0 million square foot Manhattan office building, located on the entire blockfront between 51st and 52nd Streets on Avenue of the Americas, and the 555 California Street office complex containing 1.8 million square feet, known as the Bank of America Center, located at California and Montgomery Streets in San Francisco's financial district. 1290 Avenue of the Americas, whose largest tenants include AXA, Morrison & Foerster, Bryan Cave and Microsoft, is 100% leased. 555 California Street, whose largest tenants include Bank of America, UBS and Goldman Sachs, is 94% leased.

The purchase price for Vornado's 70% interest in the real estate is approximately $1.807 billion, consisting of $1.010 billion of cash and $797 million of existing debt. Vornado's share of the debt is comprised of $308 million secured by 1290 Avenue of the Americas and $489 million secured by 555 California Street. The preliminary allocation of the purchase price is approximately $775 per square foot for 1290 Avenue of the Americas and approximately $575 per square foot for 555 California Street, based on current measurement of the buildings.

Vornado's 70% interest is being acquired through the purchase of all of the shares of a group of foreign companies that own, through U.S. entities, the 1% sole general partnership interest and limited partnership interests comprising 69% of the partnerships that own the two properties. The remaining 30% limited partnership interest is owned by Donald J. Trump.

In August 2005, Mr. Trump brought a lawsuit in the New York State Supreme Court against, among others, the general partners of the partnerships referred to above. Mr. Trump's claims arose out of a dispute over the sale price of, and use of proceeds from, the sale of properties located on the former Penn Central rail yards between West 59th and 72nd Streets in Manhattan which were formerly owned by the partnerships. In decisions dated September 14, 2005 and July 24, 2006, the Court denied various of Mr. Trump's motions and ultimately dismissed all of Mr. Trump's claims, except for his claim seeking access to books and records, which remains pending. Mr. Trump has sought reargument and renewal on, and filed a notice of appeal in connection with, his dismissed claims. Vornado has agreed to indemnify the sellers in this transaction for certain of their liabilities and expenses arising out of Mr. Trump's claims.

This acquisition is expected to close in the second quarter of 2007, subject to customary closing conditions.

Vornado Realty Trust is a fully-integrated equity real estate investment trust.
